

BRECK FOUNDATION

HELPING YOUNG PEOPLE RECLAIM THE INTERNET

Who are the Breck Foundation

Breck Foundation is at the forefront of efforts to safeguard children and young people online.

Our organisation was founded in 2014 in response to the tragic loss of Breck Bednar, a 14-year-old boy who was groomed and murdered by an online predator. Our work aims to prevent this from ever happening again. Our work saves lives.

We are a Southeast England-based charity with national relevance and impact. We reach thousands of children and young people in schools and other community settings with Breck's story every year. Our talks and educational materials fill a gap in the current UK curriculum that otherwise leaves children vulnerable to online grooming and exploitation.

According to Ofcom, most parents with children under the age of 16 are worried about the type of content their child sees online, including violence, bad language, and sexual acts. Due to the ever-evolving digital landscape, we are facing an increasing number of unregulated online spaces that predators, groomers, scammers, and anyone seeking to cause harm can use.

We are committed to making the internet a place where children can live, play and thrive in safety.

We are helping young people reclaim the internet.

"The Breck Foundation sessions were our highest-scoring sessions, both for overall marks and in terms of giving people actionable advice"

What we can offer you and your staff

Speaker Sessions: for your staff benefits programme or wellbeing days

We visit organisations and companies (both in person and virtually) to deliver our lifesaving talk centred around Breck's story. Your talk will give all your employees and colleagues the skills to effectively respond to suspected cases of online grooming, exploitation and abuse protecting themselves, and importantly the children in their lives.

Responsible Business Partnership: community projects and social value

We can work with you to create projects in your local community that will support you to deliver on your corporate social responsibility agenda.

We can adapt our work to fulfil your ESG goals and work with you on crafting social value propositions into your bids and funding proposals.

Team building activities and events: that help us continue our work

Looking for a way to bring your team together and boost morale? We can offer places in marathons to energize your team, cycling events to pedal for a cause, and help you organise corporate events such as thrilling poker nights that promise an unforgettable experience—all while helping build a safer internet for the future.

The work we do

Online Safety School Talks

We deliver powerful, compelling online safety presentations to educate everyone on the dangers that children and young people face online from grooming, exploitation, abuse, and exposure to inappropriate or harmful content.

By using Breck's real-life story we reach deeper and connect with pupils in ways that other talks do not.

RISE e2e programme

Resilience Internet Safety Education end-to-end project is a unique long-term schools partnership programme that empowers young people to thrive online.

The impact made during RISE e2e is measured and reported back to those who fund it.

Game Over - drama-based learning

Written by award-winning playwright Mark Wheeler, Game Over is a powerful verbatim play about Breck's story for secondary school students.

We offer four different Game Over projects, ranging from full-scale gala performances with local dignitaries and media to in-classroom workshops for small groups.

Breck Ambassadors

This peer-to-peer programme trains young people and empowers them to teach Breck's story in their local schools.

The programme creates a host of well-informed ambassadors of digital safety.

Advocacy and campaigning

By bringing Breck's story to the table, we seek to influence policy and decision-makers, to urge them to take strong and decisive action for children and young people's online safety.

Since 2014, so far, we've reached

16,000
parents

150,000 children & young people

14,000
teachers

The impact you could have

£1,000

would allow us to train 300 trainee teachers to spot the signs of online grooming in their pupils throughout their whole career.

£2,000

would fund the delivery of RISE e2e for one year in a local school of your choice - creating a positive impact in the community.

£5,000

would allow us to deliver two full-scale Game Over projects in local secondary schools with accompanying educational workshops and a gala performance you can attend.

£10,000

would allow us to deliver Breck's story at 40 schools and empower more than 12,000 pupils with essential online safety skills.

Other ways to get involved

One-off sponsorship: make a one-off donation of any amount.

Recurring annual sponsorship: make an annual and ongoing contribution to our work of a fixed amount.

Whole project sponsorship: choose to fund all costs associated with delivering a large-scale educational project or offer part funding - this project can be delivered in your local community helping you fulfil your ESG/social value requirements.
