

Worried about someone you know?

The Breck Foundation is an online grooming education and preventative charity, these are some of the organisations, agencies and charities they recommend. In an emergency, you should always call the Police on 999.

Websites to go to for urgent help

childline

ONLINE, ON THE PHONE, ANYTIME
childline.org.uk 0800 1111

www.childline.org.uk

Childline is a counselling service for anyone under 19 in the UK. It can help with any issue, any time of day or night. Call 0800 111111 or visit the webpage.

www.iwf.org.uk/our-technology/report-remove/

A brilliant service from NSPCC and IWF, Report Remove helps young people whose nude selfies have been shared online, and will work quickly to help get them taken down.

www.ceop.police.uk/Safety-Centre/

Breck Foundation's partners at CEOP (the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Command) are the online police and are part of the UK's National Crime Agency.

www.iwf.org.uk

If you see any criminal sexual content online you can report it anonymously to the Internet Watch Foundation.

More information on internet safety issues and how to solve them internet matters.org

learn about it / talk about it / deal with it

www.internetmatters.org

Internet Matters is a well-resourced organisation helping parents keep their children safe online. Find information on everything from setting controls on consoles to issues around cyberbullying.

www.saferinternet.org.uk

UK Safer Internet Centre promotes the safe and responsible use of technology for young people.

www.thinkuknow.co.uk

This is the educational branch of CEOP and has dedicated portions of its website for young people of different ages.

www.taminggaming.com/en-gb/home

This fantastic resource reviews and explains video games for parents and also suggests alternatives from its vast database.

www.crimestoppers-uk.org/fearless

Fearless is a site where you can access advice about crime and criminality, they provide a safe place to give information to us about crime - 100% anonymously.

www.common sense media.org

A site reviewing video games and films – with input from parents and young people.

NSPCC

www.nspcc.org.uk

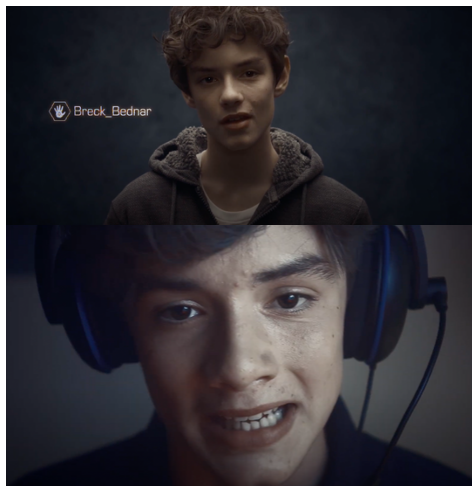

NSPCC is a large charity fighting to stop child abuse on and offline. They have a helpline available for adults on 0808 800 5000.

parentzone

www.parentzone.org.uk

Parent Zone offers free services and resources to parents, families and professionals about how to engage children in internet safety.

Links to videos

A Breck Foundation film: Breck's Last Game

www.breckfoundation.org/breck-resources

Breck's Last Game is our award-winning film that was a collaboration between the Breck Foundation and four police forces telling the story of Breck Bednar who was groomed and then murdered by someone he met online whilst video gaming.

Please do watch the film first to assess whether this is right for your child.

Home Truths - Make sure your home doesn't have an open door to child sexual abusers

<https://talk.iwf.org.uk>

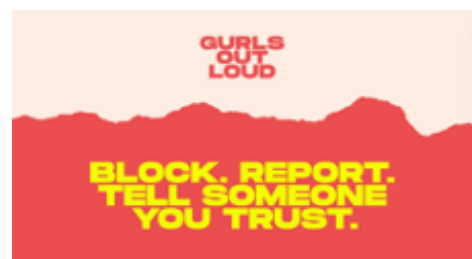

Produced by the IWF, this video is a part of their 'Home Truths' campaign, which highlights how children are being asked for sexual pictures and videos online whilst in their own homes.

Kayleigh's Love Story - Full Version - Leicestershire Police

Scan the QR code or search Kayleigh's Love Story on YouTube

This is a video made by the Leicestershire Police force about Kayleigh Haywood, who was groomed online for just two weeks, before she was lured to the predator's home and murdered. Warning - this video is hard-hitting; please use it with caution.

Blocking out sexual abuse online - Gurls out loud

<https://gurloutloud.com>

Produced by the IWF, this video is a part of their 'Girls out loud' campaign, which highlights the importance of blocking, reporting and telling someone you trust about strangers online asking for nudes.